The best luxury hotels in St. Kitts and Nevis, chosen by our renown luxury travel expert, Christopher Parr. These top 5 luxury resorts are awarded the Pursuitist Platinum badge for the “Best of the Best” in luxury.

Located miles apart, the beautiful sister isles of St Kitts and Nevis remain two of my favorite islands in the Caribbean. Their beaches are gorgeous, their mountainous lush coastlines are perfect for day hikes, and when it comes to local life, this is about as causal and fun as it gets this side of the Atlantic. Limin’ is a way of life.

It’s a very quick jaunt to travel to St. Kitts and Nevis. Just a 3-hour flight from Miami, 4 hours from New York, and 7 hours from Chicago.

St. Kitts, the main island, is home to a World Heritage site, the enormous Brimstone Hill Fortress, and a unique scenic railway that travels along the coast.

The more secluded Nevis is equally charming thanks to the stunning Nevis Peak rising from its heart, and a rare collection of exceptional plantation-style hotels. And there’s so much to see, do and eat on the adventurous island of Nevis. Choose from tranquil, secluded stretches of sand or more lively beaches with resorts, bars and restaurants.

It is delightful to refresh, relax and rejuvenate while staying at these top 5 luxury hotels in St. Kitts and Nevis.

2. Park Hyatt, St. Kitts

Located on the southern tip of St. Kitts, this Park Hyatt resort houses 126 pristine rooms and suites. This contemporary new five-star resort is set beside a spacious beach with a stunning view of Nevis.

Set within the Christophe Harbour development on Banana Bay in the most natural and untouched region of this Caribbean island, the resort is an idyllic destination in the West Indies.

The resort has 78 guestrooms and 48 elegant suites, many which feature private rooftop swimming pools and sundecks, and the majority have either beach or sea views. Rooms are spacious and sophisticated, highlighting the Caribbean colors. (Read Park Hyatt St. Kitts Review)
